Wall panels preparation

In order to properly prepare the panels, wipe them clean before painting from any dirt and dust. The surface of the panels should be clean and degreased. You can use for this a damp microfiber cloth. To increase paint adhesion, we recommend priming the panels before painting.

Panels from the Infinity Collection are intended for painting. If you want leave the panels white, we recommend painting them with white acrylic paint, because when exposed to sunlight they may change their shade.

Spray painting method

The best effect of painting panels from the Infinity collection will be achieved by painting spraying using acrylic paint. In this case, you will obtain a perfectly smooth surface of the painted panels. Depending on the selected color, one or two coats of paint are enough. You can spray paint the panels yourself or at a specialized paint shop, both before and after mounting on the wall.

Painting with a brush

You can easily paint panels from the Infinity collection yourself with wall paint using a paint brush. To paint the panels. We recommend using acrylic paint with good coverage. Apply the first layer of paint with a brush. Then wait until it dries and apply a second layer. Remember that when painting the panels with a brush, the bristle structure will be visible on the surface. Perfectly smooth surface can be achieved by painting the panels using the spray method.
